HAVING ESTABLISHED THE ABOVE MANUFACtory in Portland, we are now prepared to fill any orders for COFFEE and SPICES; and will prove by a trial that they cannot be excelled in any market. We will offer terms to the trade that will warrant them to patronize a Home Manufactory in preference to sending below for goods in our line, and shall endeavor to prove by our exertions that Oregon need not depend on other sections of the Pacific Coast for anything we manufacture.

No Flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue
With the Stars of a Union [illegible] true
[illegible]
Whose [illegible] the banner [illegible] must [illegible].

SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 10, 1864.

News of To Day.

The wires are on [illegible] and we learn that the sinking of the Florida was attributed to injuries received [illegible] efforts were made to [illegible] when she sprung a leak A brilliant [illegible] between the forces under Gen N L [illegible] and the rebel army near Baton Rouge resulted in the capture of Gen Hodge's staff two [illegible] two hundred prisoners, and eight hundred horses Magruder was attempting to cross the Mississippi there to reinforce Hood, but was opposed by gunboats and Union troops Hood with two corps of his forces, made a desperate attack on the Federal forces under Schofield at Franklin Tennessee 18 miles south-west of Nashville and was repulsed, which was really defeat as the enemy's loss amounted to 5,000 or 6,000 killed wounded and many prisoners, ours being scarce one-tenth that number. This is described as one of the most desperate engagements of the war their bravery most persistent, and as many as eleven attacks in five hours were made upon our positions and each was repulsed with terrible slaughter to the Confederates Forrest was on the field in person encouraging the rebel troops, and is reputed wounded There seems no doubt that this was a terrible result for Hood, who was reported retreating south, stripping the country of everything as he went

A plan of the Rebel Governors to destroy Memphis and seize the immense stores there has been discovered and frustrated

A Federal force under Colonel Latham, at New Creek in Virginia was surprised, and lost several guns and three hundred prisoners.

Mexican affairs are in a terrible state under Imperial rule the people starving in cities for the want of food, and the country which has been desolated by two years of civil war is now filled with brigands and all commerce and pursuits are stagnant

11, P M —Our last reports tell of resolutions introduced in the Rebel House of Representatives touching the question of peace, which will be read with interest Also of an attempt on the part of the Federal prisoners at Salisbury, N C, to escape, which resulted in the loss of forty lives, and defeat of the attempt

Additional particulars of the battle at Franklin, Tennessee, show that Schofield was left with some ten thousand men to check the advance of Hood, which he did most successfully though opposed by double his own force and Thomas strongly reinforced waits battle with Hood within 3 miles of Nashville, and will when strengthened from Chattanooga be able to drive Hood southward

Sherman is surmised to have reached the coast, judging from the tone of the late rebel papers

Information gathered from the same source leave no doubt that Sherman has reached the sea coast of Georgia in safety, but they avoid publishing news of his advance as much as possible, and we have no particulars

The Military Status

In one of the New York Democratic papers issued in October and just arrived by mail, the military situation is summed up as follows Price in Missouri was almost unopposed marching on St Louis and devasting and destroying at will. Sheridan had marched up the Shenandoah and countermarched, having accomplished little else than to waste life and treasure and claim a few barren victories, while Sherman was surrounded by dangers—his communications threatened and his position precarious All was gloomy viewed with Democratic eyes, and the prognostications were only of disaster, while the sole hope lay in the success of McClellan and his party, and the great State of New York was sure and certain for the hero of so many grand parades. Little over a month has flown and the ides of November freighted with so much dread and danger have safely passed Sheridan has not only won victories, but by force of his own spirit nerved a broken, demoralized and defeated army whose artillery was in the hands of the enemy and whose flags were sullied with a pro[illegible] and every man became twice [illegible] and the [illegible] saw the most glorious victory of the war

Price went worse than defeated—rained from Missouri—with the Federal forces following in front—a mere mob but came an army with banners, and fled in dismay without them

Sherman gathering a host that has learned to be victorious, whose equal for morale and equipment perhaps never marched to battle has traversed the once peaceful limits of the State of Georgia, from the western boundary to the coast and taught rebellion that he and his cause is invincible.

And while we write we learn over the wires that in Tennessee the rebel battalions have been hurled back defeated with great loss though attacking our forces under Schofield with all the reckless daring they are so capable of And we have notes of triumph from Louisiana and do not fear for the issue of any conflict the news of which may soon reach us

We have Generals who are to vie upon the historic page with the marshals of empires past and armies led by them that have been often tried, but better than all we have a people whose determination to support their Government and maintain its armies in the field has been spoken in most unmistakable earnest

Hopes of present peace may fail and war be forced upon us for years but the people who have endured so much for principle have said that they will 'fight it out'

DATES TO DECEMBER 2D.

GREAT VICTORY IN TENNESSEE!

NEW YORK, Dec 1—[illegible] left to-day for New Orleans where he will report to General Canby [illegible] the [illegible] of the Western Military Division

The Herald's [illegible] city of Mexico [illegible] condition of the country under Imperial [illegible] [illegible] Mexican territory [illegible]

[illegible]

CAIRO, Nov 30—Information of seemingly reliable character has been received to the effect that Capt [illegible] of the [illegible] arrived at Bagdad, Mexico October 11th en route for Richmond [illegible]

Up to November 29th there was no quorum in the Arkansas Legislature

The Memphis papers of yesterday give detailed accounts of the plot by which rebel agents were to burn the Memphis and Charleston Railroad depot and Government stores worth two million dollars The plot was discovered by a United States detective, to whom the matter was entrusted by Gen Washburn and the incendiaries were captured in the act of firing the building It was ascertained that these agents were to receive from the rebel government ten per cent on the value of property destroyed

NEW YORK, Nov 30—The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent says the Florida sunk from an unknown cause, but he supposes she sprung a leak in the seams which were weakened by the blow from the Wachusett at the time of her capture

WASHINGTON, Nov 30—An official report to the Navy Department shows extraordinary efforts made by the [illegible] as well as those on board the Florida, to save the latter vessel It was only when the impossibility of preventing her from sinking became apparent that further attempts were abandoned

The Boston Daily Advertiser of Nov 21 has an article in relation to the capture of the Florida in which very strong ground is taken against the comments of the English press and in which many English violations are quoted to show that the ship should not be given up The article is understood to be from the pen of Senator Sumner

NEW YORK, Nov 1—The Herald's New Orleans correspondent gives a brief account of the brilliant affair in Louisiana General A L Lee commanding Union forces at Baton Rouge, returned to that post on the 22d of November from an expedition to Liberty and Brookville bringing three pieces of rebel artillery, 700 or 800 horses 200 prisoners including the entire staff of General Hodge—all captured after a spirited engagement with the enemy

It is reported that a large portion of Magruder's army are endeavoring to effect a crossing at or near Vidalia, to reinforce Hood, in Tennessee but Union troops in Tennessee and gunboats are on the watch and will prevent them from doing so if possible

NASHVILLE, Nov 30—The army movements for the last few days have been simply for position. The Federal forces have not retreated except to improved locations We occupy Franklin to day but will probably select a battle ground much nearer Nashville. Skirmishing has occurred with little or no advantage to either side and the probabilities are that a battle will be fought within the next forty-eight hours

Our forces are in eager expectation and the General is hopeful and confident A large accession of troops have reached here and they have been sent to advantageous positions There are small detachments of rebel cavalry operating not far from Nashville doing however no great damage Our railroad communications with Chattanooga are intact and trains running regularly There is much excitement among the citizens on account of the near approach of Hood's army Maj Gen A J Smith's corps reached here to night

NASHVILLE, Nov 30—Five hundred rebel cavalry crossed the Chattanooga road near Lavergne last night, 15 miles south of Nashville

The garrison at Shelbyville was attacked by rebel cavalry on Monday After some sharp skirmishing the rebels retired Skirmishing at the front is of daily occurrence No change in Hood's position In every skirmish so far, the Federals appear to have had the advantage Our forces had evacuated Shelbyville and it is now in the hands of the rebels. Opinions are divided as to Hood's movements. Preparations have been made to defend Nashville should he attempt its capture

NEW YORK, Dec 1—The Times special dispatch dated Nashville Nov 30th midnight, says The enemy at four o'clock, P M made a heavy attack at Franklin 18 miles south west of Nashville, with two corps but after persistent fighting were repulsed at all points with a loss of six hundred killed and wounded [illegible] rebel prisoners One rebel Brig General was captured (Signed) [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Dec 1st—The following [illegible] the reported victory in [illegible] headquarters [illegible] [illegible] We captured about one thousand men including one Brigadier General (Signed)

SCHOFIELD

NEW YORK, Dec 1—The Herald's Martinsburg correspondent says of the affair at New Creek [illegible]

Colonel Latham was in command and being warned of an engagement at Moorfield he had his men posted and watched all night, but the enemy not coming vigilance was relaxed The next day they [illegible] his pickets and got in [illegible] gather his men We lost six or seven guns and 300 men [illegible] until Nov 30 turned up at a distance from the scene of strife

WASHINGTON, Dec 2—Richmond papers of the 29th, contain dispatch from Augusta dated the 26th, which [illegible] Sherman's headmen had not approached the city and doubts the statement made in a Savannah paper of the 24th that he had been defeated in his effort to cross the Oconee river and that his attempt to march eastward had been baffled The rebels claim that they still occupy Macon, and a Richmond paper argues that Sherman cannot reach that city

NEW YORK, Dec 1—The Commercial says Richmond papers of Nov 29th have no intelligence concerning Sherman. They state that neither Macon nor Augusta had been taken up to the 26th November Trains were running regularly between the two cities

[illegible] dates to Oct 1st are received

A violent [illegible] occurred in the [illegible] for about a quarter [illegible] with many [illegible] were blown [illegible] and others completely riddled by hail [illegible] lasted 15 minutes during which time several vessels capsized and a number of lives were lost

NASHVILLE, Dec 1—Parties who have arrived from the front and who witnessed the battle yesterday describe the attack of the rebel force as desperate [illegible]

Eye-witnesses say the engagement was desperate and furious fighting was hardly equalled by the battle of Stone river Forrest was on the field rallying the men A rumor was in circulation that he was killed About seven o'clock last night heavy reinforcements reached Schofield which caused the rebels to retreat in great disorder

[illegible] residents of [illegible] they say [illegible] miles and [illegible] Nashville [illegible] [illegible] ammunition [illegible] the ultimate [illegible] Department [illegible] seven rebel officers [illegible] several Colonels [illegible] arrived in the city [illegible] retired last night [illegible] engaged [illegible] at daylight [illegible]

Last Night's Dispatches.

LOUISVILLE, Dec 2—This morning's Journal says [illegible] Frankfort and [illegible] three miles [illegible] Nashville [illegible] the two hostile armies were engaged in skirmishing The rattle of musketry was heard in Nashville A terrible battle is imminent We don't believe Thomas [illegible] for the result [illegible] weak as [illegible] would make believe [illegible] battle to better advantage [illegible] in front of Nashville than [illegible] Murfreesboro When [illegible] at Chattanooga [illegible] Hood [illegible] General [illegible] slowly forward

NASHVILLE, Dec 2—The battle of Franklin was one of the most brilliant of the war For three days sharp skirmishing was kept up, during the retirement of our army from Duck river to Franklin during which time a multiplicity of successes resulted to the National arms Gen Cox conducted the fight on the 29th and gave the splendid victory over the rebels at Spring Hill while Gen Wilson's cavalry gained a series of important successes over Forrest's advance under Roddy on the pike between Franklin and Spring Hill During the afternoon of the 30th the rebel army, which was sorely pressed, was under Hood who had Cheatham's and Stewart's corps and a portion of Lee's [illegible] command numbering altogether 22,000 Owing to Cox's gallant check at Spring Hill, a portion of the Fourth and Twenty fifth corps were enabled to gain Franklin early in the day

They drew up in lines of works extending from one to the other of the curves in the river behind which our entire infantry command took position At 4 o'clock P M the entire rebel force made a charge, and succeeded in making a break on the centre commanded by Wagner with characteristic impetuosity. The enemy comprising Cheatham's corps dashed into the [illegible] operating with the attacking party on the left and attempted to envelope and destroy our right In the nick of time the troops of Wagner rallied and throwing their whole force on the rebel column, drove back the storming party with great disaster, and captured several hundred prisoners Four times the rebels charged in three lines and as many times were repulsed with heavy slaughter The rebels numbered two to our one Nearly half of the 4th and 23d corps were in reserve Our breastworks were not over knee high. The rebel loss in killed is three times ours and their wounded six times more than ours The artillery fire of the enemy was delivered with great accuracy Their ammunition consisted chiefly of shot and shell while for two hours we hurled an immense quantity of more murderous missiles with fearful fury into the rebel ranks Thus the attempts of the rebels to gain a permanent advance were frustrated, and at dark the Federal position was unchanged The rebels retired under cover of the woods south of Columbia pike An artillery duel was kept up until near midnight, when our troops commenced crossing the Harpeth river bringing all the trains over in safety before daylight The army then retired to within four miles of this city at which point our line confront the enemy The falling back of the army is in accordance with the programme The battle at Franklin although it was one of the most brilliant victories, was an unimportant affair brought about by the necessity of checking the enemy's advance and insure the safe crossing of the river by our trains Commodore Fitch is here with a fleet of boats and iron-clads Sufficient forces have arrived to insure not only the safety of Nashville, but another Union victory in case of a battle.

CINCINNATI, Dec 2—The correspondent of the Gazette gives the following additional particulars of the battle of Franklin

The plan of the battle was very simple, we had no time to get up a complete plan as the enemy pressed us closely and obliged us to fight off hand The original plan was to withdraw the forces of Schofield until the reinforcements came up and then to give battle in the vicinity of Nashville But Schofield perceiving that he could not avoid a fight drew up his little army in line of battle in front of Franklin at half past three o'clock The rebel assault was opened by Cheatham's corps on the right Stewart on the left and [illegible] in the centre

Cheatham threw his whole corps on Wagner's [illegible] [illegible] two regiments kept extending [illegible] and behind [illegible] regiments were placed four other [illegible] assaulting columns were six regiments deep [illegible] The artillery brigade of the Fourth corps, had placed its batteries in a favorable position from which storms of shot and shell were plunged into the charging ranks With most reckless bravery the rebels rushed on and when within a few hundred yards of our works our troops poured upon them with so terrible a musketry fire that it seemed as if nothing could live before it but no wavering was perceived in the advancing lines. On they came up to the parapets [illegible] as they struck their way into the edge of the battlements [illegible]

The pressure was so great that some of [illegible] and Wagner's men temporarily gave way At this time, a brigade commanded by Col Opdyke of the 125th Ohio which had been held in reserve rushed forward to restore the broken line The rebel troops who had [illegible] over our works had not time to [illegible] and [illegible] Wagner's men broken but a moment before rallied and attacked the enemy on the flank while Opdyke charged their front [illegible] steel with bayonets and butt ends of muskets Some of the rebels were captured [illegible] The line was [illegible] Forty four [illegible] the battle was [illegible] 4th [illegible] Riley's brigade [illegible] ground in front [illegible] Seventeen distinct attacks [illegible] were repulsed At dusk the rebels [illegible] It was not until [illegible] o'clock [illegible] 2,000 rebels were either killed, wounded or captured while our loss will probably reach about 1,500

We have taken thirty flags, some regiments—among them the Seventh [illegible] Gen [illegible] the little [illegible] from the [illegible] the stream [illegible] Twenty [illegible] great [illegible]

A child speaking of his home to a friend was asked 'Where is your home?' Looking with loving eyes at his mother the exclaimed: 'Where mother is' Was ever a question so truthfully, beautifully or touchingly answered?

SMALL PENALTIES.—Considerable fault is found among our citizens on the escape of two criminals from justice, by the imposition of small fines. James Dobson, arraigned for the third time in three months—his last crime the drawing of his pistol on an officer, and he already under bonds of $500 to keep the peace—was let off for $80, and that in legal tenders, when he would if committed have been sent to the Penitentiary for two years. Of course he took passage in the steamer for California, and when gone it is found that his own name is not on the $500 bond to keep the peace, and it is very doubtful if his sureties are held by it as a consequence. Lord Patterson, a notorious desperado, after destroying the furniture of a house of ill fame and kicking women of the inmates, seizes another with his bowie knife, slashes the hair off her head, and part of the scalp with it, for which atrocity he is bound over in the sum of $500—greenbacks of course—and takes the morning boat for Dalles, and heaven knows where else, when the least sum imposed should have been $2,000, and his conviction was a moral certainty, that would have secured him a rest from the commission of general meanness for five years to come. Thursday night a man was robbed on a wharf in the city of a new pistol, cost $40, and a Policeman took $10 bail of him when he had only indulged a gentlest for highway robbery. The public make ill natured remarks reflecting severely on those at fault, and the public prosecutor despairs of doing any good by prosecutions. We do not wish to be ill-natured or to sanction it unnecessarily in others, but ruffianism crowds our city, has its dens here, and is trying to thrive in our midst. Let us secure proper treatment in the future, for those who are so badly troubled with this complaint. Mr Brown, a special officer from San Francisco, remarked while here that both Dobson and Patterson would have served a long term in the Penitentiary, had they committed their offences there.

A QUEER MISTAKE.—A friend of ours relates a circumstance that occurred at Arrigoni's recently, which is too good to keep. Mr —— had arrived from the interior on a business tour, and being naturally anxious to try one of the crack Hotels of the Coast, put up at Arrigoni's. At the dinner table, looking towards the large mirror which covers the east end of the room, he discovered an old, warm, personal friend sitting with his back to him! As soon as the meal was finished our hero spoke to the waiter and asked permission to visit the next room for the purpose of addressing his friend. The contraband, without seeming to understand, at least assented, and Mr —— started for the mirror, intent on going through, no doubt, but was restrained just before he put his foot into it. He turned about suddenly abashed, and beheld his friend and humorous other guests convulsed with laughter at his ludicrous mistake.

COULDN'T STAND IT.—If there was anything lacking to prove the detestable state of Front street, above Yamhill street in this city, it might be of sufficient importance to witness the wreck of wagons upon it for one week. During five days past four wagons, two trucks and one dray have been smashed, and one buggy and one wagon upset, inside of the city limits, from the foot of that street on Front street. Yesterday a wagon with less than a load of wood on it was smashed in front of Sonnenburg's store, that had stood the roads of the country first rate. There is not much wonder that the California Stage Company employ a steamboat on this end of the route in winter time—they are compelled to do so.

"GOING DOWN."—Nobody loves a joke better than R., and it always does him good to pin a first rate one on somebody, even as sociable a neighbor as Capt. S., of Sacramento, who happened to be in town on the day of the sailing of the last steamer, when a question arose between them on the condition of our river. R. contended that the water was going down, while S. argued with convincing proof to all but R. that it was coming up, citing as an instance the Brother Jonathan, the decks of which were a foot higher from the wharf then, than twelve hours before, and the crew had been loading freight all the time. "Can't help that, my dear fellow," continued R., "I most positively assert that I am correct, the water is going down, don't you see—yourself!" and pointing to the drift wood convinced the doubtful ones that it was so.

STEAM SAWING.—As somewhat indicating the demand for wood prepared stove lengths, we observe that steam machinery has been rigged on the wharf at the foot of Alder street for the purpose of sawing wood into desirable length as it is landed from flat boats. The enterprise has been undertaken by Mr. Wilson of the Third Ward, and we predict it will be a very successful business. No matter how bad the streets are people must have wood, and notwithstanding the steam arrangement will work disadvantageously to "Lo the poor Indian," it will be a convenience to the public, as the order for wood, and sawing, can be delivered at once.

THOMAS HOFFMEISTER.—Dr. Lewis Hicklin, Coroner of this county, informs us that from the papers on the person of Thomas Hoffmeister, the unfortunate man who died at the Temperance House on Thursday evening, it was ascertained that he had been a private in Company I of the Washington Territory Infantry. That he was born in Germany, is 37 years of age, five feet ten inches high, fresh complexion, blue eyes, dark hair, by occupation a shoemaker; that he was a loyal man, and was maimed for life in the service of his country. He had an honorable discharge and was on his way to his friends in Philadelphia.

WANTED TO SAVE HIS BOUNTY.—A raw recruit, on his way to the rendezvous in this city, a few days since, stopped his "escort" rather abruptly in the street and wanted his bounty. Being a little under the influence of spirituous fluids, the officer remonstrated, saying, "You will spend it, if you get it now." "Vell," says recruit, "dat ish vat I vants, I may get kilt, den I has no benefit of him." He finally "surrendered" and went into "quarters."

THE FANNIE TROUPE.—This elegant new steamer for the Vancouver trade made her third trip yesterday, and for speed has proved herself right worthy. On the water she makes a handsome appearance, and being finely furnished through out the saloons, is not only a fine model of ship architecture, but an easy, comfortable and reliable passenger craft. She has been well freighted with government stores from the ships in port on her trips of two days past for Fort Vancouver.

SECURITY FOR TWELVE.—The liberal proprietor of the What Cheer House, ever mindful of the interests of his guests, has purchased a novel instrument for securing the safe keeping of their umbrellas while at the dinner table of a rainy day. It is arranged on a patent plan, and with each deposit of a "spreader" the owner takes a key and holds it in security for the article until his return.

THE SIERRA NEVADA.—We are informed that the steamship Sierra Nevada did not arrive at San Francisco until Wednesday, the 7th. This would prevent her departure for Portland on the regular day yesterday, and probably she will not leave sooner than Monday next.

SNOW AT THE DALLES.—We are informed by Mr Copeland, who arrived by the steamer H. G. Hunt last evening, that there was about four inches of snow at the Dalles yesterday morning. Some small cakes of ice were floating in the Columbia river. The snow on the Blue Mountains has increased to a depth of four feet.

ANOTHER PRINT IN THE SERVICE.—Capt. John Cullen, late of the Cavalry, in Yamhill county, has entered the service under the late call of the Governor, and is recruiting in Washington county. Mr Cullen is a member of the ‥ art pro‥ and in taking leave of the ‥ stick and rule ‥ paid our office a visit a short time since.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly … [illegible] … conservative. It regulates … Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure blood produce nutritious … and healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame … shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured, strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!

In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion, which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm up on the spirits.

For Females:

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Lost for a Little

Oh, the fair wind blew fresh, and the surges
Ran after our feet
As our gallant ship was sailing for England
Her flag at the mast
I watched the blue hills of the land fade
Rise up from the sea
And I thought how [illegible] my darling
Was waiting for me

All the years since we parted [illegible]
Her sweet [illegible]
As the ship [illegible]
In [illegible]
But now [illegible]
[illegible]
And the [illegible] my darling
Again I shall hear

I entered the street [illegible] village,
[illegible]
That led to her dwelling [illegible]
The [illegible] I knew [illegible]
The rooms were all darkened [illegible] fluttered—
Three words so no one said—
Then I knew that my darling, my darling
Had long time been dead

I thought of the hope I had cherished
That day when she died
I was planning a long happy future
With her by my side
Long [illegible] I pictured
Our English home lost—
Whilst from England my darling, my darling
Went up to her rest

So life became darker and colder
Than I can here tell
But I do not repine for I know what
God doeth is well
If He plucked a sweet hope from my bosom,
He planted one there
And I know that my darling, my darling
Is safe in His care.

In the graveyard, I [illegible] watching
A tablet of white
With her name and the date Shall I sorrow?
We soon shall unite
In a happier holier union
Than earthly [illegible]
For in heaven my darling, my darling
Is waiting for me

A ENGINEERING FEAT.—The following is taken from the Philadelphia Ledger

In Brazil, M Brunless assisted by English capitalists has been engaged in "lifting" a railroad (the San Paulo) over the great Sierra de Mar a mountainous elevation 2 600 feet high The entire ascent is divided into four "lifts," or inclines of a mile and a quarter each running at a gradient of one in ten A level platform or "bank head," marks the summit of each incline, and at the upper end of the platform is a stationary engine This engine has double cylinders of 26 inches diameter, with a five feet stroke and has been calculated to haul up fifty tons at the rate of ten miles per hour Five boilers of the Cornish description are placed with each engine. On the upper half of each incline there is a double line of rails, with arrangements for passing places on the middle of each of these "lifts" A single line of rails then runs on from the centre to the foot of each of the four divisions into which the ascent is divided. A steel wire rope, 1½ inches diameter, is made for pulling up the ascending trains. This rope, tested to a weight far exceeding the require ments that will be made upon it, passes over friction wheels, and is attached to the fly wheel shaft The inclines are therefore partially self acting, at the same time passing one train down to the foot of the Sierra, and drawing up another to the higher levels on its way out to the province beyond This feat is pronounced a bold and impracticable one, but with science and skill scarcely any physical obstruction can stand permanently in the way of human wants or necessities. One ravine crossed is 900 feet in span on the level of the railway, and is crossed by a viaduct resting on clusters of iron columns, which spring up from enormous stone piers 200 feet below the centre of the line which passes over them The work is nearly completed, and will then open the way for travel and traffic between the seaboard and interior The Emperor of Brazil is making all kinds of useful improvements in his territory and thereby greatly assisting its industrial and commercial development.
